Position your brand at the forefront of the global geospatial sector.

On behalf of the International Federation of Surveyors (FIG) and the Geospatial Council of Australia (GCA), you're invited to participate in the upcoming FIG Working Week 2025 & Locate25 held from 6 to 10 April in Brisbane, Australia, home of the Jagera people and the Turrbal people, the Traditional Custodians of Meanjin land.

As a country celebrated for its innovative spirit and thriving economy, we are thrilled to announce that the FIG Working Week 2025 & Locate25 will be held at the Brisbane Convention Centre, in the capital city of Queensland, Australia. The dynamic city of Brisbane, shows seamless blends of urban sophistication with cutting-edge technology and research, making it the perfect location for geospatial experts.

FIG Working Week 2025 & Locate25 offers a dynamic opportunity to strengthen your organisation's exposure to your key target markets. The conference will bring together surveyors (cadastre, valuation, mapping, hydrography, and quantity surveyors), geospatial professionals and related professions from across the globe thus providing direct access to a diverse cross-section of highly sought after industry stakeholders.

Attendees include professionals at all levels related to the use of geospatial technologies, including Government and Agency Representatives, CEOs, CIOs, CTOs, business owners, senior managers, project managers, information analysis, technical professionals, academics and students.

Sponsorship packages and exhibitor opportunity levels vary, and are tailored to suit your marketing strategies. FIG Working Week continues to be one of the premier international events, providing your company the valuable opportunity to network with the most influential people at the forefront of the latest research, technology and development, position your brand at the front line of the industry, and to build and strengthen relationships with key industry figures.

Collaboration, Innovation and Resilience: Championing a Digital Generation

The International Federation of Surveyors (FIG) is a United Nations and World Bank recognised non-governmental international professional organisation. FIG was founded in 1878 and represents national associations of surveying, cadastre, valuation, national mapping professionals, geospatial experts and quantity surveyors working in both the public and private sectors, in the scientific, research and academic community, as well as from technology innovators and industry from more than 90 countries around the world.

Each year, FIG convenes a conference in cooperation with a national member association, elected by FIG General Assembly. The coming Working Week will be held in cooperation with our member from Australia, Geospatial Council Australia, GCA.

One of the characteristics and a distinctive feature of FIG conferences are that experts from all the different areas of surveying – interpreted in the broadest sense including land surveyors, geospatial experts, valuers, quantity surveyors, hydrography surveyors etc. – are all represented. FIG brings these different surveying professions and professionals together to enhance the cooperation and understanding of each other's fields.

FIG Working Week 2025 unlocks the opportunity to connect and learn as part of a global community.

Learn and share globally – with participation from around 90 or more countries

Network across silos, from other countries, sectors and professional roles – with sessions and representation from the broad range of surveyors and geospatial experts

An event that can make impacts on careers, organizations and communities

A unique opportunity for undisturbed on-site time to focus and concentrate on an array of content

FIG Working Week 2025 is packed with content from a global perspective driven by 10 technical commissions:
